按照政府有关部门的部署，港中大(深圳)及时发布延迟开学通知，推迟2020年春季学期的开学时间至不早于2月24日，具体开学日期将另行通知。为了不让疫情影响同学们的学业，港中大(深圳)一直在积极部署网上授课和春季学期的各项教学方案，为全力落实网上授课方案，大学为师生提供线上学习系统Blackboard，网络视频平台Panopto以及直播教学系统Zoom进行线上教学活动，保证新学期绝大多数课程于2月17日开展网上授课。同时，大学春季开学预案在防控小组的指导下周密制定，由各部门分工逐步落实，通过综合协调、信息日常监测、区域分隔管理、人员分类管理、日常就餐管理、医用物资和交通保障服务等确保新学期正常有序开学。

多个教授团队助力新型冠状病毒的药物研发

CUHK-Shenzhen Takes Action against COVID-2019

The Spring Festival of 2020 was overshadowed by a sudden coronavirus outbreak. As the number of confirmed and suspected cases continues to rise, thousands of health care workers have joined the front line to fight against the 2019 novel coronavirus. Inspired by them, the students and staff of CUHK-Shenzhen are contributing in their different ways.

To ensure the safety of all students and staff, the University announced the deferment of the start date of Spring semester. In order to minimize the impacts on our students' academic progress, online teaching and learning has been initiated from February 17th. Technological supports are made available to guarantee the quality of online teaching and learning activities. Such supports include Blackboard, an e-learning system, Panopto, an online video platform, and Zoom, a real-time live teaching system.

Headed by Prof. Yangsheng Xu, President of CUHK-Shenzhen, an epidemic prevention and control team was promptly set up to closely monitor the epidemic situation and ensure the safe environment inside the campus. A number of effective measures have been taken on campus, such as designating quarantine areas, disinfecting major public areas, checking temperature, handling used masks properly, etc.

Multiple Research Teams Promoting Novel Coronavirus Drug Development

Three research teams of the School of Life and Health Sciences (LHS), CUHK-Shenzhen, are actively working on the medication and treatment for the current coronavirus epidemic that is endangering thousands of people's lives.

Professor Richard Ye, dean of LHS, is currently engaged in a project aiming at developing neutralizing antibodies for 2019-nCoV. The project will soon start with the R&D strategy and technical route confirmed. Another project led by Professor Pan Wang is focusing on the development of steroidal drugs against the coronavirus. Meanwhile, professor Hongli Hu is leading a third project to analyze the structure of the S protein of the novel coronavirus as well as its receptor ACE2 complex with the aid of three-dimensional cryo-EM reconstruction technology at the KOBILKA Cryo-Electron Microscopy Center.

17 HSS Students Volunteer to Translate Medical Documents

As the Coronavirus Disease 2019 spreads across the country, students of CUHK-Shenzhen participated in the battle in their own way. 17 students from the School of Humanities and Social Science volunteered to translate medical supplies documents. They joined a Wechat Group named "Wuhan Volunteer Translation Group", which consists of teachers and students of translation from major universities across the country, as well as practicing professionals in the fields of translation and medicine.

With united efforts, they quickly completed a large number of translations of multiple product certifications and standards for medical supplies. Their collaborative work proved effective in facilitating the identification of large quantities of resources that meet the safety standards and can be used by local hospitals in Hubei.

CUHK-Shenzhen Alumna Sun Qianhui and Her Team Raise Fund and Resources for Hospitals in Hubei

Sun Qianhui, who graduated from CUHK-Shenzhen in 2019, organized a "Hubei Aid Team", gathering over 700 volunteers to raise money and supplies for Hubei Province. She also managed to transport medical supplies, such as goggles, medical gloves and N95 masks, to local hospitals in Hubei.

"Like dust, we are just ordinary people. But even if we can only ignite a little spark with our power, we are willing to use this spark to light up even an inch of land." This is the utterance of Sun.

人文社科学院 17 位学生志愿者参与海外物资文件翻译

举国抗疫之际，人文社科学院翻译专业的十多位同学亦用自己的专业技能和知识参与到疫情防控工作中，完成了多项海外物资文件的翻译任务，为抗击新冠肺炎疫情贡献了自己的力量。我校同学加入的线上志愿工作群是隶属于“武汉志愿者翻译总群”的“新冠应急-英语-2组”，主要负责3_BS EN149 2001呼吸防护装置防颗粒过滤面罩要求等文件的翻译。

“武汉志愿者翻译总群”是曾被中央电视台新闻栏目点名称赞的一个由各大高校相关专业的师生以及从事翻译、医疗行业的专业人士等自发组成的志愿者微信群。他们旨在将海外物资标准化文件翻译成中文，确认其是否满足相关医用标准。曾有3000套来自海外的防护服被归类为不可使用的不达标物资，志愿者们迅速完成了对应条款的翻译后确认这批防护服是可用于防疫的物资。

本科毕业生孙千惠统筹组织“四海援鄂小分队”为湖北多家医院筹集善款物资

“我们只是微尘一般的平凡民众，但哪怕用尽我们所有力量只能点燃一点星火，我们也愿意用这点光芒去照亮哪怕一寸土地。”这令人泪目的话语，出自一位名叫孙千惠的女孩之口，她是香港中文大学(深圳)2019届经管学院、学勤书院本科毕业生。随着新型冠状病毒感染的肺炎疫情蔓延，湖北地区医疗物资紧缺。怀着担忧焦灼的心情，孙千惠参与组织了“四海援鄂小分队”。在十天里，就有700多名志愿者加入了小分队。担任总统筹的孙千惠同学和所有志愿者一起，筹集善款物资，联系车队运输，为多家医院送去大量护目镜、医用手套和N95口罩等医疗用品。

新型冠状病毒感染的肺炎疫情引发社会各界高度关注。深圳多所高校于近期同步调整开学时间，要求学生不得提前返校。在这个特殊的假期，港中大(深圳)校长徐扬生提笔为学生和家长写了一封信，为学生们开出一份暖心的“心理处方”。

校长徐扬生教授致同学和家长的 一封信

President Xu's Letter to CUHK-Shenzhen Students and Parents

各位同学，各位家长：

大家都知道这个农历新年过得与往年很不一样，新型冠状病毒感染的肺炎疫情蔓延全国，我校也与全国各地的所有学校一样，发出了延后开学的通告，具体开学日期待定。我知道许多同学很焦虑，担忧学期的安排，担心会影响暑期国际交流的机会，或是担心毕业延期及影响未来的继续深造。由于疫情尚未解除，因此我们不能给予确切的安排，但我们相信这个不确定性应该可以在往后的一两周内明朗起来，大学的主管和老师们一直在商讨各种可能性及对应的措施，例如网上授课，我们会尽可能帮助同学们解决学业上的问题。

同学们，当下你最应该做的就是好好地“宅”在家里，不要到处乱跑，不要提前返校，因为传染病的特性，最好的防范办法就是隔离自己。是的，老待在家里，有时会心烦，但你要想一下，现在有那么多的不幸感染者在在医院里努力求生，有那么多的医生护士冒着生命危险没日没夜地拼命抢救生命，比起他们，你应该感到何其幸运！何况，像这样能待在家里的日子何其珍贵，往后更是越来越少，你不如趁机做点你平常想做而不能做的事情。平时学习紧张，没空去读你一直很想读的书，没空去看你一直很想看的电影，你父母喊你坐下来一起聊天的时候，你总说“没空”。现在好了，你不都有时间做了吗？当然，你会寂寞一点，但寂寞不等于无聊，愈是寂寞的时候，我们心灵的灯愈会变得明亮起来。所以，同学们，我希望你们在这个从天而降的假期结束的时候，不仅能带回来一个健康的身体，还能带回来一段有意义的经历，带回来平时无法获得的珍贵的领悟。

同学们，现在是非常时期，我们每一个人的生活、学习与工作都不可能不受影响，你们一定要有思想准备，而且要听从和配合政府及有关专家的指令，要有耐心，要有同理心(empathy)，要为别人着想，共度时艰。不要去责怪别人，要多想想自己能帮助什么。要相信爱的力量，不要去传递仇恨，愈是在这种时候，愈能看到人性的光芒，看到道德的力量。尤其，对于来自湖北的同学，我们不能有任何歧视。我们隔离来自疫区的同学和人员，是为了保护极大多数的师生，这个隔离的时间是有限的，我们要尽最大努力来帮助疫区的同学，不能因为受灾而让他们掉队。我们的身体是隔离了，但我们的没有隔离，我们不能同呼吸，但我们会共命运！

同学们，因为你年轻，这可能是你人生中遇到的第一次大的灾难，千万不要恐惧。我们一方面要重视，以往所有的错误就是因为中间有些人太过忽视了这种病毒的危害性，我们要严格按照规定起居生活。但另一方面，不要过于担忧以致恐慌，天是塌不下来的！任何灾难都会过去的。当年SARS的时候，我所在的香港中文大学及其附属教学医院首当其冲，每天都有包括老师员工在内的人员死亡的消息传来，我记得我那时仍每天戴着口罩上班，一面静心写书，我那本《人类行为的学习建模》的英文专著就是在那段时间完成的。另一方面，我不断地给学生和朋友写邮件，有时候电邮里就是几个字“仁者不忧，勇者不惧”，互相壮胆，互相鼓励。最后，也就是四个月的时间，一切都过去了。我相信，这次疫情会更短，因为控制得比较及时，所以，同学们，没什么了不起的！过不了多少天，我就会在阳光明媚的神仙湖畔见到你了！

Dear students and parents,

As we have all felt, this is an unusual Lunar New Year. With the novel coronavirus spreading nationwide, CUHK-Shenzhen has, like schools of all levels across the country, announced the postponement of spring semester, and the exact starting date of the new semester is still yet to be determined. Under such circumstances, dear students, I understand many of you are experiencing anxieties. You feel concerned about your study plans, your chances of spending the summer of 2020 taking courses overseas. You might even feel uneasy about the impact this epidemic might have on your graduation and future academic pursuits. As the virus continues to strike new victims at an unrelenting rate, we are unable to make settled arrangements yet. But this uncertainty, I believe, will substantially lessen within the next couple of weeks. Our senior administration and our faculties are considering all imaginable possibilities and are working on corresponding solutions, of which, giving courses online is one. The university is committed in doing all that we can to accommodate your academic needs.

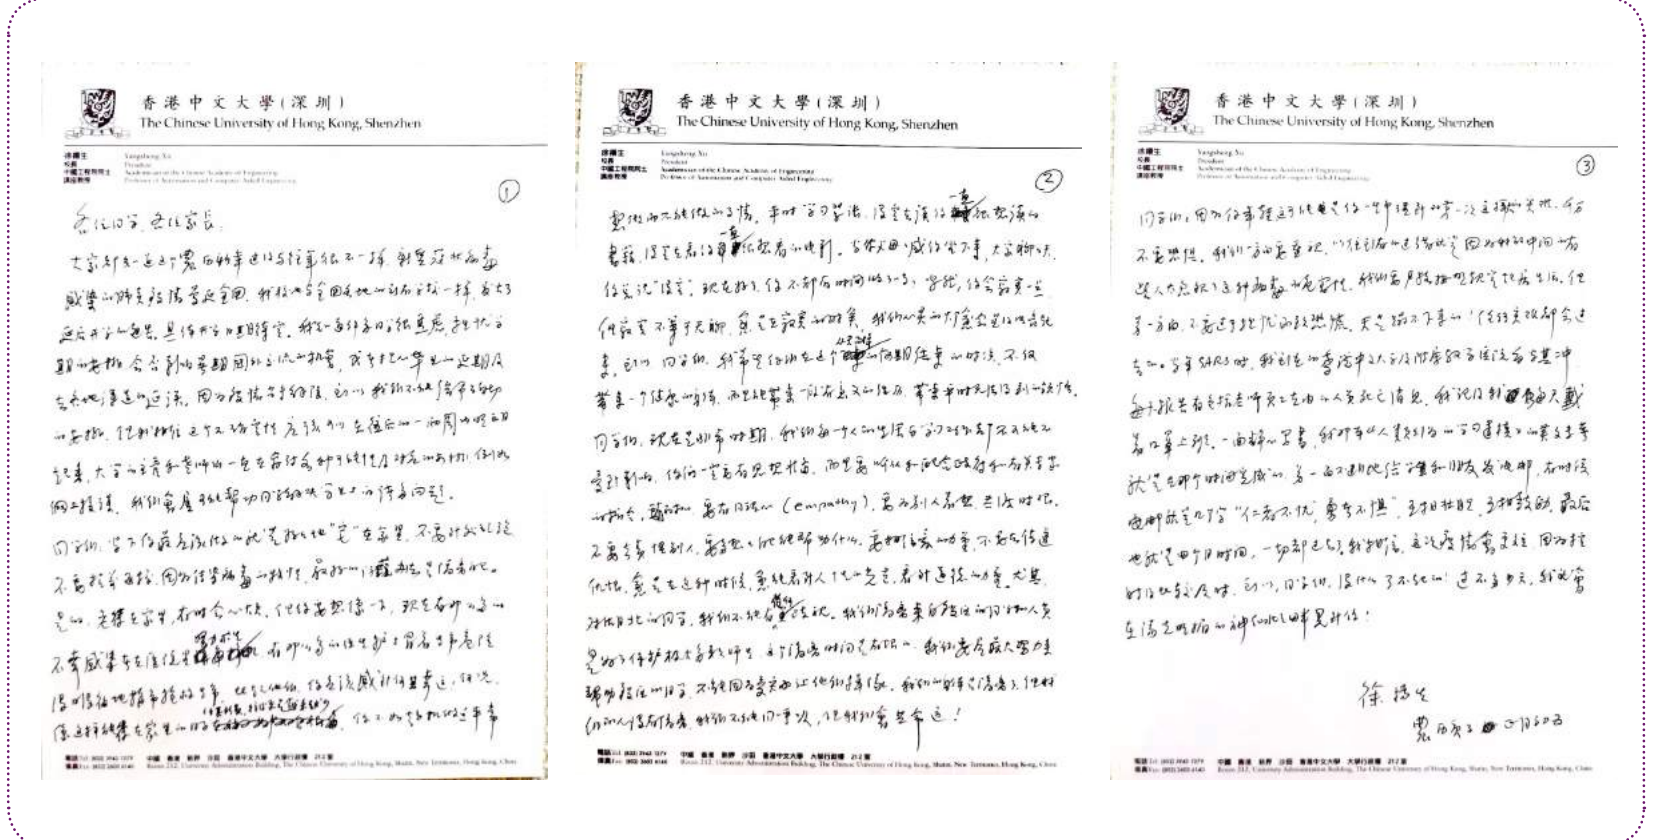

On your part, dear students, the wisest thing to do for now is to stay at home. Avoid exposing yourselves to public places as much as possible. In the meantime, returning to the university before it is announced safe to do so would be strongly discouraged. Given the highly contagious nature and the long incubation period of the virus, avoiding direct contact with the world outside is currently the best way to protect yourselves and your family. Indeed, staying at home for all the time being can be irritating. But let us not forget those who are unfortunately infected and are struggling to survive; nor let us forget those medical staff who are endangering their own life and health day and night so that others may have a chance to live. There is enough to feel grateful for whenever you think of them.

Much less to say, this might be one of the rare occasions in life when we could afford to spend time doing things that we seldom found time to do before. The book you have always wanted to read, the movie that has long been on your list to watch, the much needed t ê te- à -t ê te with your parents that has been put off by all sorts of excuses, what your busy academic life has kept you from actually doing, now is the time. Surely you might find life less animated as it usually is. However, it is often in solitude, when the world outside quiets down, that the light inside us shines through, clearly, brightly. Therefore, dear students, when this unexpectedly extended vacation comes to an end, I hope you will return to our university with health, meaningful experiences, and insights that can only be gained in trying times.

Under current critical situation, I want you to understand and be prepared that the life, work, and study of every one of us will be influenced. It is our duty to comply with the regulations and advocates by our government and health experts. Blaming others would not help us defeat the virus, nor shall proliferating hatred. To all our students and parents, I call for patience and empathy. The more emergency arises, the more need for love and humanity. We must not, I emphasize, discriminate against students and individuals from Hubei province. We have placed those with a travel history to Hubei under quarantine only for the purpose of protecting the larger majority of students and staff. And the quarantine will only last for a limited period of time. I call on us all to do our best to help our students in Hubei, and we will not leave them behind. Physical separation should not stop us from caring for each other. With the same sky above our heads, we are scripting one shared fate of the human race.

With your young age, dear students, this might be the first time you consciously witness a devastating disease sweeping the globe. Be cautious, but do not be afraid. On the one hand, we should take due caution in our daily life for it was lack of caution in the emerging state that has escalated the outbreak. On the other hand, please know that all crises will eventually exhaust themselves. When SARS struck in 2003, CUHK and its affiliated teaching hospitals were right in the midst of it. Almost each day, we heard of infection and death of people including those of our faculty. I remember wearing masks to my office just as usual, working and writing quietly. My monograph Human Behavior Learning and Transfer was completed during that very period of time. Apart from working, I wrote to my students and friends, sometimes with the mere words "the benevolent are not beset with worries; the brave are not disturbed by fears" for each other's encouragement. Eventually, after roughly four months' destruction, SARS disappeared. This coronavirus, too, will run its course, I believe, even sooner than SARS did. Dear students, again, this is by no means the end of the world. I will see you by the Fairy Lake under warm southern sunlight very soon.

All best wishes,
Yangsheng Xu
President, the Chinese University of Hong Kong, Shenzhen

WE STAND WITH YOU Messages of Support from CUHK-Shenzhen International Partners

The recent outbreak of COVID-19 has presented unprecedented challenges to the teaching, research and international cooperation of universities across the country. With more than 100 international partners around the world, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Shenzhen is no exception. At this unusually difficult time, it is comforting to receive numerous messages sent from our international partners to express their trust and support.

Santa J. Ono, President & Vice Chancellor of the University of British Columbia (UBC), wrote with deep concerns on January 31:

"Our thoughts and prayers are with you. We understand that there are students, scholars, and their families from China who are currently studying and working at UBC, many of whom may have ties to your institution. We want to ensure that UBC has resources in place to support them at this challenging moment."

After receiving the letter, Prof. Shiping ZHU, Vice President of CUHK-Shenzhen replied with sincere gratitude.

"CUHK-Shenzhen has established a close relationship with UBC since 2015. Thank you for your care and support to our students. United, we will overcome the difficulties together."

As one of the earliest international partners of CUHK-Shenzhen, UBC offers a tripartite programme in global supply chain and logistics management together with CUHK-Shenzhen and Copenhagen Business School(CBS)

To minimize the impact of the epidemic on international cooperation, the Office of Academic Links of CUHK-Shenzhen sent messages to a total of 119 universities around the globe that have established or in the process of negotiating partnerships with us, to inform them of the developments of the epidemic and the prevention and control measures adopted by the University. The measures include delaying the start of the spring semester, restricting campus access, offering online teaching and learning and counselling hotlines, etc. The letter also explains the arrangements of exchange students' life and study on campus, which are of great concern of our partners.

This proactive communication has received a warm response from our international friends.

Many partners replied with their concerns and support to students and staff of CUHK-Shenzhen and their sympathy for people in Wuhan. They include Copenhagen Business School, Sungkyunkwan University, University of Warwick, Technische Universität Darmstadt, University of California, San Diego, University of Minnesota, National University of Singapore, University College Cork, University of Cambridge, EM Strasbourg Business School, University of St. Gallen, University of Queensland, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven.

In addition to online teaching, CUHK-Shenzhen has also provided an online application system for students to apply for overseas exchange and summer programmes in the 2020-2021 academic year. It is expected that the number of students participating in overseas projects will grow steadily this year.

徐扬生校长与 200多名湖北学生 元宵“云”团聚

湖北,是新型冠状病毒感染的肺炎疫情防控核心区域,在这个不太平的春节假期里,香港中文大学(深圳)的200多名湖北学生,始终是校长徐扬生心中最大的牵挂。2月8日晚7时半,徐扬生校长通过视频连线的方式,与这200多名湖北学生及其家长“在线团圆”共度元宵佳节,在表达关心与想念之余,他还鼓励同学们静心读书,多与家人沟通,对于家长们提出的疑问,徐校长也一一耐心解答。这样新颖而真诚的交流,千里距离若比邻。

“我希望你们首先要保证自己与父母的平安。在有空的时候,还是要多看点书。心中虽有不安,但是不可被这种不安打乱读书的节奏。你可以把书中哲学的思想,精华的字句认真记录下来,慢慢体会与反思。

多读书多思考,才不会浪费这段特别的光阴”。徐校长还利用自己当年于SARS期间,面对外界的人心惶惶,依然静心写书,完成《人类行为的学习建模》英文专著作为例子,鼓励同学们“仁者不忧,勇者不惧”,潜心做学问。

“在这段难得的与家长相处的时光里,请你们与爸爸妈妈亲人朋友多沟通,也可多利用网络,加强与同学、导师之间的交流,即使不能外出,也不要总把自己的思维困在一个地方。”徐校长认为,充分的沟通,能够一起抵抗谣言,互相之间传递正能量。

毕业于湖北襄阳四中,现为香港中文大学(深圳)大四人文学院、逸夫书院学生的秦仁洁,也参加了本次的线上团圆,她认为学校的一系列线上活动,让她备受鼓舞:“克服时艰的路上给我们都带来了许多疼痛,它的深刻,不亚于一连几场考试失利。我们要肩负起一份青年人的责任与担当,让历史教训发生得有意义。”据悉,在疫情期间,她依然在积极筹备升学事宜,为即将到来的毕业季作充分准备。

正月事物虽然还未开学,但港中大(深圳)的四所书院依然为学生在元宵节准备了精彩的网上活动——“住在云里、乐在网上”:逸夫书院组织了“逸夫直播间:众志成城战疫情,居家猜谜闹元宵”活动;学勤书院推出“非你莫‘鼠’学勤全民K歌大赛”;思廷推出“月夜静思,熄灯一小时”活动,在线赏月,一起为地球祈福一小时;祥波书院组织了“祥波云动:元宵暖心线上活动”,一系列线上活动亦为2月17日即将开展的网上教学积累了经验。

President Xu Celebrates Lantern Festival with Students in Hubei Online

As the center of the novel coronavirus outbreak, Hubei Province is the most affected region with more than 60000 people diagnosed. Therefore, the over 200 students of CUHK-Shenzhen who are currently in Hubei province become the greatest concern of the University. In order to encourage the young people, Prof. Yangsheng Xu, President of CUHK-Shenzhen, reunited with them through an online activity with visual images of everyone presented on the night of Lantern Festival (February 8th).

Prof. Xu took this chance to not only express his concern, but give life advice on how to overcome fear and spend the time in a meaningful way.

"First of all, I hope that you and your parents stay safe. When you have time, please do more readings. The anxiety in your heart should not disrupt your reading rhythm. You may also extract the philosophical ideas and the essence of the books for further reflection. Read more and think more, to make a full use of this special time", said Prof. Xu. To inspire students, Xu shared an experience that he finished his writing of Human Behavior Learning And Transfer during the SARS outbreak.

Prof. Xu then explained the significance of communication in this unusually difficult period, which can help to pass love and energy, to break the rumors and develop thinking.

"During this once-in-a-life-time period, please have more conversations with your parents, relatives and friends. You can also exchange ideas with your classmates and mentors by means of internet. Though stay indoors, don't trap your mind in a fixed corner."

Qin Renjie, a year-four student from Xiangyang, Hubei, is one of the participants of this online activity. She was deeply touched and encouraged by Prof. Xu's sharings. Staying cool and calm, Qin will work hard to prepare herself for the application for postgraduate programmes.

The activity provided a perfect opportunity for students to interact with the president and their peers. More importantly, it helped to relieve their stress under the severe situation in Hubei.
